Where available, we ask that records responsive to this Request be produced in the original electronic format with all metadata and load files. We ask that any records produced in PDF, TIFF, or other image formats be produced in full, uncompressed form; please do not compress images or downsample the resolution, as this interferes with their legibility. To facilitate a speedy response, we ask that records responsive to this request be produced on a rolling basis.

Where available, we ask that records responsive to this Request be produced in the original electronic format with all metadata and load files. Please preserve all “parent-child” relationships for any communication produced, meaning that the Requester must be able to identify the attachments with emails.

ICE records may refer to Mr. La by his A number only, [REDACTED] or by his BOP number [REDACTED], and as such, a searches by his A number and BOP number should also be conducted.

Additionally, Requester does not seek the names or contact information of individuals (other than Parady La) or other exempt personal identifiable information of people referenced in the records requested herein. If any of the requested records contain exempt personal identifiable information, Requester asks that said personal identifiable information be redacted to ensure the maximum production of responsive relational information contained within the records. Nothing in this request should be construed as a waiver of Requester’s right to challenge any redactions made on the basis of personal identifiable information, including in the event of litigation regarding this FOIA request.

II. The Requester

The ACLU of Pennsylvania is a non-profit, non-partisan organization and a state affiliate of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), a national organization that works to protect civil liberties of all people, including the safeguarding of the basic constitutional rights that include due process of law and equal protection under the law. The ACLU of Pennsylvania represents Jazmine La, daughter and next-of-kin of Parady La.

III. Request for Fee Waiver

The ACLU of Pennsylvania requests that any fees associated with responding to this FOIA Request be waived. Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii) and 6 C.F.R. § 5.11(k), fees should be waived or reduced if disclosure is (1) in the public interest because it is “likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government,” and (2) “not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester.” Disclosure in this case meets both tests. The ACLU of Pennsylvania also requests a waiver on the basis that it qualifies as a “representative[] of the news media” and the records are not sought for commercial use. See § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II); 6 C.F.R. § 5.11(d)(1).

A. The Request is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government.

As a federal agency, ICE’s actions, including its practices related to immigration detention, constitute government operations or activities. The health and safety of people detained by ICE is of great concern to the general public. As a result, this Request is likely to contribute to the public understanding of the operations or activities of the government, meriting a fee waiver. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii).

ICE acknowledges, “Any death that occurs in ICE custody is a significant cause for concern.”<sup>6</sup> ICE Directive 11003.5 mandates that ICE’s Office of Public Affairs must post an interim notice of the detainee death to ICE’s public-facing website within 48 hours (or sooner, if practicable),<sup>7</sup> even while – by ICE’s own account – the agency is only congressionally required to “make public all reports regarding in custody deaths within 90 days.”<sup>8</sup> This fast public reporting timeline underscores the significant public interest in deaths in immigration detention.

<sup>7</sup> ICE Directive 11003.5: Notification, Review, and Reporting Requirements for Detainee Deaths, supra, note 5.

Mr. La's death has already received media coverage in local<sup>9</sup> and national<sup>10</sup> media sources. Furthermore, various national advocacy groups have disseminated statements on his death to their members and followers.<sup>11</sup> Despite this coverage, ICE has released few details publicly about the actual circumstances of his death and instead released a derogatory statement that emphasized Mr. La's previous criminal contacts.<sup>12</sup> Many questions related to Mr. La's death remain – questions that are both in the public interest to understand, and can help provide his loved ones a better understanding of his final days.

The Records subject to this Request will contribute to the public understanding of Mr. La's death.

B. Disclosure is not primarily in the commercial interest of the ACLU of Pennsylvania.

The ACLU of Pennsylvania is not filing this request to further a commercial interest.

The ACLU and its affiliates, including the ACLU of Pennsylvania, have a longstanding practice of disseminating information obtained through FOIA at no cost, in order to further the public's understanding of immigration laws and policy – and also have a wide network with which to share the information.<sup>13</sup> For instance, in 2016, the ACLU used documents obtained through FOIA requests to ICE, together with documents that the National Immigrant Justice Center (NIJC) obtained through FOIA, to publish a joint report with Detention Watch Network entitled Fatal Neglect: How ICE Ignores Death in Detention.<sup>14</sup> This report described how ICE's inadequate responses to its internal death review findings contributed to ongoing substandard medical care in detention, and has received significant public and congressional attention.

<sup>13</sup> The ACLU of Pennsylvania has more than 55,430 followers on social media and over 85,700 e-mail subscribers who receive updates on the ACLU of Pennsylvania's activities.

The ACLU of Pennsylvania has the ability to widely disseminate the requested information through a variety of sources including reports, newsletters, news briefings, and right-to-know handbooks. These materials would be made available to the public at no cost.

As such, the ACLU of Pennsylvania satisfies the test for a fee waiver. See Jud. Watch, Inc. v. Rossotti, 326 F.3d 1309, 1312 (D.C. Cir. 2003) (“Congress amended FOIA to ensure that it be liberally construed in favor of waivers for noncommercial requesters” (internal quotation marks omitted)). Citizens for Resp. and Ethics in Wash. v. U.S. Dept. of Educ., 593 F. Supp. 2d 261, 268 (D.D.C. 2009) (“[FOIA’s] purpose . . . is to remove the roadblocks and technicalities which have been used by . . . agencies to deny waivers”) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted)).

C. The ACLU of Pennsylvania also qualifies for a fee waiver because it is a representative of the news media and the records are not sought for commercial use.

The ACLU of Pennsylvania is also entitled to a fee waiver of search fees on the grounds that it qualifies as a “representative of the news media” and the records are “not sought for commercial use.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II).

The ACLU of Pennsylvania meets the statutory and regulatory definitions of a “representative of the news media” because it is an “entity that gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw materials into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(III); see also Nat’l Sec. Archive v. U.S. Dep’t of Def., 880 F.2d 1381, 1387 (D.C. Cir. 1989) (finding that an organization that gathers information, exercises editorial discretion in selecting and organizing documents, “devises indices and finding aids,” and “distributes the resulting work to the public” is a “representative of the news media” for purposes of the FOIA); Serv. Women’s Action Network v. U.S. Dep’t of Def., 888 F. Supp. 2d 282, 290 (D. Conn. 2012) (requesters, including ACLU, were representatives of the news media and thus qualified for fee waivers for FOIA requests to the Department of Defense and Department of Veterans Affairs); ACLU of Wash. v. U.S. Dep’t of Just., No. C09–0642RSL, 2011 WL 887731, at *10 (W.D. Wash. Mar. 10, 2011) (finding that the ACLU of Washington is an entity that “gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw materials into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience”); see also Elec. Priv. Info. Ctr. v. Dep’t of Def., 241 F. Supp. 2d 9, 10–15 (D.D.C. 2003) (finding non-profit public interest group that disseminated an electronic newsletter and published books was a “representative of the news media” for purposes of the FOIA); Jud. Watch, Inc. v. U.S. Dep’t of Just., 133 F. Supp. 2d 52, 53–54 (D.D.C. 2000) (finding Judicial Watch, self-described as a “public interest law firm,” a news media requester).

Similarly, obtaining information about government activity, analyzing that information, and widely publishing and disseminating that information to the press and public are critical and substantial components of the ACLU’s work and are among its primary activities. For example, the ACLU regularly publishes ACLU Magazine that reports on and analyzes civil liberties-related current events. The magazine is disseminated to over one million households. The ACLU of Pennsylvania also publishes regular updates and alerts via email to approximately 85,700 people. These updates are additionally broadcast to about 55,430 social media followers (members and non-members). The magazine, email, and social-media alerts often include descriptions and analysis of information obtained through FOIA requests.

The ACLU and its affiliates also regularly issue press releases to call attention to documents obtained through FOIA requests, as well as other breaking news, and ACLU attorneys are interviewed frequently for news stories about documents released through ACLU FOIA requests. Similarly, the ACLU regularly publishes and disseminates reports that include a description and analysis of government documents obtained through FOIA requests. This material is broadly circulated to the public and widely available to everyone for no cost or, sometimes, for a small fee.

In sum, because disclosure of the requested documents is in the public interest and not primarily in the commercial interest of the ACLU of Pennsylvania, and because the ACLU of Pennsylvania is a representative of the news media, the Requester is entitled to a total waiver of fees associated with this Request and should, in no event, be required to pay more than reasonable standard charges for document duplication. In the event that you decide not to waive the fees, please provide the Requester with prior notice so that we can discuss arrangements.

We appreciate your prompt attention to this Request and look forward to your reply to this Request within twenty (20) days, as required under 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(A)(i). Please furnish all responsive records to:

Finally, if this Request is denied in whole or in part, we ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the FOIA. We expect the release of all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. We reserve the right to appeal a decision to withhold any information or deny a waiver of fees.
